

An easy way to vent

The high performance Glazpart Link Vent range of plastic injection moulded trickle ventilators has been added to Carl F Groupco's hardware catalogue. Designed to meet the stringent requirements of today's building standards, the Link Vent MK 2 is available in two variants – the 2500EQA and 5000EQA.

Drawing on over 30 years' experience in the design and manufacture of plastic glazing accessories for the fenestration industry, and specialised knowledge of ventilation products, the Glazpart Link Vent range offers a number of key features including one of the highest decibel ratings for non-acoustic vents. The ventilators can also achieve higher performance and improved EQA on smaller vents.

The 2500EQA can be installed to replace both 2000 and most 4000 vents: it is the same size as typical 2000 vents and has the optimum EQA to replace most 4000 vents. The 5000EQA can be used to replace two 4000 ventilators, meaning fewer vents to fit and rout. Supplied with fixing clips already fitted, and without end caps, ensures easy push fitting in seconds. Accurate, level fitting is also achieved as clips automatically centre the vent in the rout and for screw fixing, the fitted screw caps are easily removed and replaced.

The Link Vent is available in a large range of solid colour or wood grain finishes. For maximum colour flexibility, internal and external parts can be purchased separately. □

The Residence Collection open-in doors are now fitted with Dynamic 2D door hinges manufactured by SFS.

Sarah Hitchings, sales and marketing director of The Residence Collection says: "Developing The Residence Collection has brought together the best technical minds, with SFS playing a key role. It was vitally important to get the door hinges right, to reflect the quality of the Residence Collection brand – and that's why we partnered with SFS for its Dynamic 2D hinges. These hinges have enabled us to create open-in doors which combine fantastic looks with smooth opening and closing, and the long term assurance of robustness and security.

"SFS worked with The Residence Collection to develop bespoke sash plates ensuring a precise and secure attachment to the open-in sash." □

A wright vice

Paul Wright, service director for access and security solutions provider dormakaba who has served as an executive council member of ADSA for four years will be appointed as vice chairman of on May 1st. Formed in 1985, ADSA ensures that its member companies offer premium levels of safety for pedestrian automatic doors.

Wright has over 18 years of industry experience. His current remit at dormakaba as service director, is to oversee the day-to-day management of the UK and Ireland businesses. His primary responsibilities include ensuring that dormakaba's sustainable approach to service growth is achieved and delivery performances continue to meet targets.

Wright says: "My passion and dedication to both our industry and ADSA has grown over the last four years during my time as an executive council member. It has been very rewarding to see the association develop every year."

Committed to promoting the highest standards in automatic doors, ADSA is actively involved in the formulation of European-wide standards. This resulted in standard BS EN 16005 – 2012, which replaced BS 7036 in April 2013, and all members continue to be fully committed to it and the related testing.

"I'm incredibly proud to be appointed as vice chairman. My commitment to the industry and this association is to ensure we remain focused in all safety and technical aspects, whilst also driving new and exciting education initiatives in the coming years." □
