PVC-U SYSTEMS

One-click step

Rehau has launched a new platform – Rehau Connect – to provide installers with a simple, digital way to order windows.

Currently being rolled out in Scotland on a trial basis, the Rehau Connect platform is intuitive and easy to use and keeps everything an installer needs for a job in one place – from quotation to completion.

The platform's step-by-step features start with the Rehau product catalogue – formatted for easy viewing and featuring all of the company's window and door products in one place. Installers can use the platform to show customers lots of different options and find the windows and doors which best meet their requirements.

Once a decision has been made on products, installers can then use the platform to send requests for quotes in just one click. As the platform stores all the user's contacts, there is no need to spend time searching for email addresses or contact details. Jobs are also kept on the platform, so it is possible to review previous work.

Suitable for use with mobile and tablet devices as well as desktop computers, the Rehau Connect platform was launched in Scotland at a series of events in Glasgow, Edinburgh and Aberdeen.

Gareth Jones, marketing and technical director, Rehau Windows Division, says: "The Rehau Connect platform has been designed to make life easier for installers, streamlining the ordering process to help save them time and money. The platform itself has been designed with simplicity in mind and a step-by-step approach which reduces the back and forth with fabricators to finalise specifications." □
